THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, December 23, 1895.
COFFEE—The Liverpool market was still reported with some improvement, some imports were held steady, and a general advance of 1 point on futures, but there was no general disappointment at the way Liverpool futures slipped away. There was however some improvement in the tone of the market, and although the net loss was 1 to 3 points with the tone bare, it is steady. Our market was influenced largely by the Wall Street market, as well as by Liverpool, and many of them made more rapid movements than our own.
